The study of materials is the study of mechanical behavior of solids and liquids in a wide range of loading conditions by deformation.

Based on certain experimental observations on the behavior of materials under various loading conditions, the study of materials is divided into two main branches: Strength of Materials and Failure of Materials.

Strength of Materials is the study of the behavior of materials under various loading conditions. It is divided into two main branches: Stress Analysis and Strain Analysis.

Stress Analysis is the study of the internal forces (stresses) that develop within a material when it is subjected to an external load. It is divided into two main branches: Normal Stress and Shear Stress.

Strain Analysis is the study of the deformation (strain) that occurs in a material when it is subjected to an external load. It is divided into two main branches: Elastic Strain and Plastic Strain.

The study of materials is a branch of mechanical engineering that deals with the behavior of materials under various loading conditions. It is a branch of engineering that deals with the behavior of materials under various loading conditions. Just a single breach can mean vast amounts of private information going into the hands of criminals, terrorists, foreign enemies, or other malign entities. Online learning requires motivation to complete tasks, stay engaged, and make progress. Human resources of the organization are considered as the key aspects, which ensures the implementation of tasks and functions takes place in an appropriate manner. 2013. Sachar & Neumann 2010. Department of Education 2010). Educators utilizing a constructivist perspective may emphasize an active learning environment that may incorporate learner centered problem-based learning, project-based learning, and inquiry-based learning, ideally involving real-world scenarios, in which students are actively engaged in critical thinking activities. An online program will be weakened if its facilitators are not adequately prepared to function in the Virtual Classroom. Online courses aren't harder and don't require more time, but the way you engage with them is. Instructors aren't on the stage; Class sessions in face-to-face courses are a lot like on-stage performances. To provide the content necessary in creating a powerful digital learning environment, their networks must offer connectivity and speed for the multitude of both wired and wireless connections. This means that the graphic or image should be physically near the text that describes the image. People learn better from a multimedia lesson that is presented in user-paced segments rather than as a continuous unit. They also increase availability to individuals who may not be traditional patrons of a library, due to geographic location or organizational affiliation. Open educational resources (OER): Open educational resources are teaching, learning, and research resources that reside in the public domain and are freely available to anyone over the Web. Just as they might decide to turn off social media alerts while studying an online textbook, they might want to consciously slow themselves down when reading for deep meaning. Key findings: 1. As distance learning evolved with the advance of the Internet, online courses were developed for Advanced Placement students, or to provide college preparatory courses that were not available in rural or inner-city schools. Doing so helps you choose the tool that's just right for the needs of your learners and your e-learning development team. Many students struggle with self-discipline in a higher education classroom setting. Students can take a final test to prove their mastery, and if they pay an extra fee receive a certificate of completion. Who hasn't listened to a Ted Talk that was shared on Facebook or other social media sites? Not only is factual knowledge important, but also competence in using the methods of obtaining it as well as the competence of co-operating with others. For example, it is often argued that the Internet offers individuals enhanced access to sources of knowledge and expertise that exist outside of their immediate environment. Successful learners online have an awareness of metacognition – self-motivation, self-starting, and ownership of one's actions. Digital learning guarantee more participation from students as the current generation of students are well-versed with laptops, I-pads, and smart phones. The democratization of information is one of the wonders of modern times. Educational institutions began to take advantage of the new medium by offering distance learning courses using computer networking for information. This is different than a traditional face-to-face course, which may rely more heavily on traditional lecture-style delivery of content and classroom-based learning exercises. Active and frequent participation from everyone: Success in the online environment requires active and frequent
